STIGMA

Stigma is an attribute, behavior, or reputation which is socially discrediting in a particular way; it is a form of discrimination that causes an individual with mental illness to be classified by others in an undesirable, rejected stereotype rather than in an accepted, normal one.

Mental health stigma is fueled by the misconception of what mental illness looks like. Too often, the public perception of mental illness is—in actuality—a perception of mental illness untreated. Understanding that mental illness can be treated just like any other illness is the key to wellness and recovery.

NJ Governor’s Council on Mental Health Stigma
Respect. Understanding. Change. Everyone is touched by mental illness at some point in their lives. The Council’s mission is to raise awareness of mental health and address stigma as a top priority in New Jersey’s effort to create a better mental health system. Mental illness can be treated.

Resources

The NJ Governor’s Council on Mental Health Stigma has created a clearing house for those seeking information and resources about mental health and mental health stigma.
